A local business manager called the city cell phone to make a report of a possible stolen vehicle. The manager told the officer that his employees noticed the beige colored Dodge Durango parked in the parking lot over the weekend and saw the back passenger window was missing. The officer did a computer check which showed the vehicle was not stolen. The rear passenger window was missing but due to the small amount of glass shards, the officer believed it may have been broken into at another location. The officer did not observe any glass on the ground outside of the vehicle. The officer attempted to contact the vehicle owner but was only able to leave a voice mail message. There was nothing more that could be done so the officer resumed patrol.
