An officer was dispatched for a stolen vehicle report. Upon arrival, contact was made with the female victim who related she had arrived at the gym at approximately 1600 hours. When she arrived, she parked along the 3rd row of parking slots, near the west end of the row, facing the fence line. She entered the gym and proceeded to the locker room, where she placed the car keys for her vehicle in her clothing bag and placed the bag in a locker. She did not secure the locker. Upon completing her training session at approximately 1745 hours, she grabbed her bag from the locker and was unable to locate her vehicle keys. She then went over to the window to visually locate her vehicle and noticed that her vehicle was not there. She then went downstairs to report the incident to staff and contact the police. Her vehicle was black in color with beige interior and had Operation Iraqi Freedom license plates. The only things of value inside the car that she could immediately recall were a pair of boots and a laptop used through her work in the military. The only thing she noticed out of the ordinary was a female in the locker room saying she couldn't locate her locker. The victim provided a brief description of the female to the gym staff, but could not be certain the subject had anything to do with her vehicle missing. The vehicle was entered into police computers as stolen.

An officer observed a maroon Ford Contour travelling north on South Tower Road at, what appeared to be a higher rate of speed than the clearly posted 30mph. The officer began to follow the vehicle and caught up to the Ford Contour which was stopped at a red light at the intersection of Winding Way and San Pedro. The light turned green and the vehicle crossed over the highway and began to travel north on the access road of US HWY 281. The vehicle changed lanes and as the officer changed lanes. The operator of the vehicle changed lanes a second time. The operator began to slow the vehicle dramatically. Based off training and experience, the officer believed the operator was trying to avoid contact with him. Because of his erratic behavior, the officer activated the emergency lights on the patrol vehicle and the operator of the Ford Contour, quickly moved right and turned onto Brook Hollow. The officer had to activate a blast of the siren before the operator of the Ford Contour made a definite gesture to pull over. The operator eventually stopped in the 14100 block of Brook Hollow. The officer called in the traffic stop and noted that the brake lights never went out or the light never cycled through the stopping/parking sequence. The officer felt the operator was about to take off and called for assistance. The operator began to move forward as if he was departing. The officer hit another longer blast on the siren and began to follow until the operator, once again pulled over. The officer exited the patrol vehicle and began to approach the Ford Contour and the operator abruptly sped off heading east on Brook Hollow. The officer returned to the patrol vehicle and followed as the vehicle turned north onto Rio Seco Drive. The officer observed the operator slow the vehicle, open the driver door and jump out with a backpack, heading west into a wooded area. The Ford Contour began to roll forward and came to a stop against a mailbox, in the 400 block of Rio Seco Street. This location was within 1000 feet of the property line for Bradley Middle School. The officer observed the passenger door open and the passenger stepped out with his hands raised. The officer immediately detained him in handcuffs. Other officers arrived on scene to assist in looking for the driver with negative results. The passenger was searched and ultimately informed the officer of the identity of the driver. As the officer approached the Ford Contour, a very heavy odor of marijuana was detected. Marijuana and Methamphetamine were confiscated. The passenger was very cooperative with the officer and was not arrested. The driver left behind many identifiers and a warrant will later be issued.
